RE: Connie S. Hansen (past due interest)

CREDIT DEPT.

A $50,000 unsecured loan was made to the subject on May 27, 1977 for one year. The loan was made at the request of and supported by the guaranty of Nelson Bunker Hunt. As a result of this guaranty, we should have no exposure of principal or interest on this loan.

Mrs. Hansen is the wife of Idaho Congressman George Hansen and, as such, maintains residences in both Arlington, Virginia, and Idaho. Cur standard interest due notices were mailed to the Virginia address for the August 26 and November 26 quarters. Prior to the November 26 notice being mailed, I sent a registered, return mail copy of the first notice to confirm that the Hansens had received our initial interest notice. Congressman Hansen called me to indicate that he would immediately put a check in the mail to cover the interest. I confirmed by phone that we had the correct address for mailing notices, but since this conversation we have not received the payment nor heard anything more.

John Goodson (Hunt's financial officer) has requested that we make no further contact with the Hansens at this time as he feels the situation will be cleared up shortly (didn't say how). I have agreed to do nothing until January 31, at which time Goodson has said he will get Bunker to either pay the interest and/or the note. In view of Bunker's guaranty, I do not believe the loan should be placed on non-accrual or charged off.

Mr. N. B. Hunt 2500 First National Bank Dallas, TX 75202

Dear Bunker:

On May 27, 1977, we funded a $50,000 loan to Mrs. Connie S. Hansen supported by your guaranty. This loan was renewed at its maturity in May, 1978 for an additional year with interest paid through May 26, 1978.

Our notices to Mrs. Hansen since then have gone unanswered and direct telephone conversations with Congressman Hansen have not produced results. This loan has, therefore, been past due since May 25, 1979 and accrued interest through today totals $8,908.90. (Interest continues to accrue at $17.81 per day.) We would appreciate your assistance in securing payment of this note and, to this end, would like to enlist the assistance of the bank's attorneys. I would hope to get this matter resolved by the end of January so that this loan will not continue showing on our past due reports.

Please let me know what action you deem appropriate.

Sincerely yours,

Sam P. Henry

The Honorable and Mrs. George Hansen 4700 38th Place North Arlington, VA 22207

Dear Congressman and Mrs. Hansen:

On May 27, 1977 the First National Bank in Dallas funded a $50,000 loan to Mrs. Connie S. Hansen. This loan was renewed at its maturity (although several months late) in May, 1978 for an additional year with interest paid current through May 26, 1978. The renewed note matured May 25, 1979 and as of today is 298 days past due.

By means of this letter, we hereby demand payment of this past due principal sum of $50,000 and accrued interest of $10,033.56. Until paid in full, interest continues accruing on this loan at the rate of $19.19 per day. Our maturity notice sent to you last May together with subsequent past due notices have gone unanswered. In a direct telephone conversation with Congressman Hansen last year, I was promised that the loan would be paid in full within the week. Again, we have heard nothing from you since that telephone conversation.

Please communicate directly with me at (214) 744-8473 to inform me as to how your payment will be effected. Shall I fail to hear from you by Wednesday, March 26, 1980, I will have no alternative but to turn this matter over to the bank's attorneys to pursue collection. You shall additionally become liable for any fees incurred as a result as per the terms of the Note (copy attached). Thank you in advance for your positive response to this letter.

Sincerely yours,

Sam P. Henry Vice President

Dear Bunker:

On January 18, 1980, we talked about the past due loan to Mrs. Connie S. Hansen. Since that date, the loan has been placed on our supervised loan report. As a result of not hearing from the Hansens in the last sixty days, I have had no alternative but to write them a letter demanding payment. A copy of this letter is attached for your files.

Should we fail to hear from the Hansens by the end of this month, we will likewise have little option but to call for payment under the terms of your guaranty or, alternatively, to have the interest brought current and have you purchase from us a non-recourse participation in the loan. I hope this matter can be resolved to everyone's satisfaction without the necessity of having to take this last step.

Sincerely yours,

Sam P. Henry Vice President

| The risk of loss in trading commodity futures contracts can be substantial. You should therefore carefully consider whether such trading is suitable for you in light of your financial condition. In considering whether to trade, you should be aware of the following:                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| (1) You may sustain a total loss of the initial margin funds and any additional funds that you deposit with your broker to establish or maintain a position in the commodity futures market. If the market moves against your position, you may be called upon by your broker to deposit a substantial amount of additional margin funds, on short notice, in order to maintain your position. If you do not provide the required funds within the prescribed time, your position may be liquidated at a loss, and you will be liable for any resulting deficit in your account. |
| (2) Under certain market conditions, you may find it difficult or impossible to liquidate a position. This can occur, for example, when the market makes a "limit move."                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| (3) Placing contingent orders, such as a "stop-loss" or "stop-limit" order will not necessarily limityour losses to the intended amounts, since market conditions may make it impossible to executesuch orders.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| (4) A "spread" position may not be less risky than a simple "long" or "short" position.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| (5) The high degree of leverage that is often obtainable in futures trading because of the small marginrequirements can work against you as well as for you. The use of leverage can lead to large lossesas well as gains.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

Suretyship contracts. Wife's earnings.

Suretyship Contracts.

This section is for the protection of married women and leaves them free to deal with their separate property as they see fit but they may not involve their separate property or make it liable except for their sole use and benefit, and this rule applies to appeal bonds. Craig v. Lane, 60 Idaho 178, 89 Pac. (2d) 1008.

Wife's Earnings.

Money earned by married woman as laborer in orchards and packing houses or in caring for pasture of her step-father, all while living with her husband, is community property, of which she has the management and control. McMillan v. United States Fire Ins. Co., 48 Idaho 163, 280 Pac. 220.

32-914. Curtesy and dower abolished.—No estate is allowed the husband tenant by curtesy upon the death of his wife, nor is any estate in dower allotted to the wife upon the death of her husband. [1867, p. 65, § 10; R. S., § 2506; reen. R. C. & C. L., § 2687; C. S., § 4668; I. C. A., § 31-915.]
